Brain Dump

Catch it, don't judge it. Sorting comes later.

Write everything on your mind — tasks, ideas, worries, reminders.

No order needed. No complete sentences needed.

Sort it — only when you are ready

Do now

Needs doing today.

Schedule

Give it a day and a time.

Drop

Not mine. Not now. Let it go.

Task Breakdown

One big task. Tiny steps. Start with the smallest.

The big task

Break it down — each step under 15 minutes

- ☐ Step 1 ≈ ___ min
- ☐ Step 2 ≈ ___ min
- ☐ Step 3 ≈ ___ min
- ☐ Step 4 ≈ ___ min
- ☐ Step 5 ≈ ___ min

Dopamine Menu

Pick your reward before you need it — not after you crash.

Fill this in on a good day. On a hard day, just pick one and do it.

Quick — under 5 min

A song,
a stretch, fresh air, water.

Medium — 5 to 15 min

A walk,
a snack, a chapter, a call.

Longer — 15 to 30 min

A bath,
a game level, a hobby session.

How to use it

1. Pick one small reward BEFORE a hard task.
2. Pick one AFTER you finish — that is the deal.
3. No earning it by suffering first. The menu is always open.

Month Overview

The whole month on one page. Big picture only.

Month: _____ One theme for this month: _____

Mon	Tue	Wed	Thu	Fri	Sat	Sun

3 things I want to finish this month

- ☐ 1.
- ☐ 2.
- ☐ 3.

What I will NOT do this month

How to Use

Three minutes to set up. Thirty seconds a day to keep.

1. Import it

In GoodNotes or Notability, choose Import and select this PDF.
It opens as a notebook — every link below already works.

2. Tap to move around

Tap “Index” at the top of any page to come back here.
Tap “Next” to move forward one page at a time.

3. Write on it

Use your stylus or the text tool. Duplicate a page whenever you need a fresh copy — daily and weekly pages are reusable.

4. Start small

Fill in only the Top 3 each morning. Skip everything else until the Top 3 feels easy. That is the whole system.

The three rules

1. Small is a win. A 5-minute step still counts.
2. Missed days are data, not failure. Restart, don't catch up.
3. If a page feels heavy, use fewer boxes — never more.

This is a free 10-page trial. The full planner will be released after trial validation. Questions or feedback: see the project README.
